

Italian culture

The reproduced museum of the italian culture is like a memory of humanity involving the social play with images as an advertising for the same individual that returns to his hidden appearance all along epochs
for a trading induction with the public behaviour where the nature rhythm reflects the loneliness of a creative illusion.