

O Muse

Like a surging water the current muse acts in the arid search of the thought for the immune way that receipts the man transmitter of a brotherhood link with the first human being deified as Eros son of Ares the god of war carrying a public image that could be obtained by the madness exercise projected onto his own shadow plotting with the facing light of the sun the public wealth of a treasure of invisible the depressive and childhood touch to former actors that readjusts the fatherhood thread of an instinctual behaviour with the trance of nature for the food and for the cure that keeps all along by Asclepius Harpocrates
and Serapis manners
the dream incubation to obtain the adapted prescription of the illness and an attempted embassy beyond the seas of the earth surrounded by waters similar to the health reconstitution of a symbolic individual.